Background Info & Questions

Please list all public service positions held over your career including unpaid public service.

I am the treasurer of the Brentwood Democratic Committee and sit on the Brentwood planning commission, I have been involved for a little over a year. For the last year I have been an active member of Young Democrats of Allegheny County. Since 2020 I have served as the President of the Pittsburgh Professional Chapter of Engineers Without Borders and been involved overall since 2017.

Please describe the general background of your public service during your professional career.

I began my career working with adults with intellectual and physical disabilities as a Quality Compliance and Privacy Coordinator for CLASS. I then took on the role of Program Director at Community Human Services in a mental health residential facility, prioritizing a housing first harm reduction model. I then worked in the environmental public health space with communities of southwestern PA that are impacted by oil and gas development. I am the founder and executive director of Public Health Partners where I continue to work with groups working towards a just transition to a greener economy that centers community solutions.

Please describe your accomplishments in promoting the concept of equity for all *people.

Currently in my professional career I serve as the strategic projects manager for Cancer Free Economy Network, which is a national group that works to end cancer from toxic causing chemicals. In my role I oversee the implementation of our Emerging Leaders Cohort which is BIPOC year long paid leadership program that identifies and supports early-career leaders. The initiative focuses on building leadership skills of individuals who identify as Black, Brown, Indigenous & People of Color who are from or work in environmental justice communities. This role has allowed me to help identify and select the program managers who run the program each year and report back to me, the mentees for each year and the mentors who will work alongside each of the leaders. This program is not only national but last year we received our first international candidates as well. Working within the network and this program specifically has allowed me to refine my skills in building coalitions and working across racial differences on one shared cause-eliminating toxic causes of cancer. While this experience is different than running for office or holding office, I believe the skills at the core are the same. Identifying stakeholders, meeting with the community and leaders and not just listening to what they have to say but allowing them to take the lead and truly working together as a team is I think how legislators need to approach holding office but that is unfortunately often not the case.

Please describe any particular qualification you possess which was developed * either through your career or in your community that would enhance your ability in the office you seek.

I have spent the last several years working as a community organizer with communities impacted by oil and gas development as well as other major polluters. In my professional role I have helped communities organize town hall meetings, provided analysis and recommendations regarding policies and permits, and acted as a health expert testifying before the state senate as well as local councils and commissions when permit decisions were before them. I have seen first hand the suffering in so many environmental justice communities both in my own backyard and nationally. I have also talked with workers in the industry who have no rights, aren't allowed to unionize and are getting sick but can't say anything if they want to keep their jobs. I have talked to residents who would identify as democrats, and republicans, and independents and I see at the end of the day no one wants to pollute the earth. Everyone wants to breathe clean air, to have good fair jobs, and to have an earth to pass onto our children and grandchildren one day. Our climate is suffering, our communities are suffering and we need real policy change now to change the direction we are going in. In addition to working with communities I have worked alongside legislators to educate them on issues such as blue hydrogen, health impacts of fracking etc. and in 2022 I was able to help contribute to the public health fracking bill that was introduced in the state legislature. As a senator I would take all these experiences and skills to advocate for strong climate change actions in the state.

Please describe any particular qualification you possess which was developed either through your career or in your community that would enhance your ability to serve in government.

Part of the reason I was interested in running for office was because we see a lack of educational diversity in our legislature—we don't have a lot of social workers as elected leaders. I worked at Community Human Services during COVID and a lot of those experiences led me to run for office. Many of the issues my clients were facing everyday were things I couldn't fix and they couldn't fix because they were a result of poor policy or lack of policy on a whole host of issues. That job gave me a lot of experience working with individuals facing homelessness and substance use disorders and it taught me how harm reduction and housing first models are not only possible but are incredibly effective. I really believe my work as a social worker and in that setting is what would allow me to bring a diverse perspective to our legislature.

Please list all endorsements you have received *

I have been endorsed by Run for Something which is a national organization dedicated to supporting progressive young candidates running in down-ballot elections. Additionally, I have been endorsed by 314 Action which works to elect scientists and those with a STEM background to legislature and advocates for evidence based policy solutions.

If elected, what are your top three priorities? *

My campaign platform is strong unions and economic justice, healthy homes & communities, environmental justice, disability justice, and criminal justice reform. In my legislative agenda, I am driven by a commitment to fostering positive change in the communities of the district. Some of my priorities would include:

- --Strong support for SP26, which targets the closure of the toxic waste loophole introduced by Katie Muth. This legislative initiative is integral to promoting environmental responsibility and safeguarding our communities from toxic waste.
- --I would actively back HB1656/SB950, recognizing the pressing issue of wastewater injection wells, particularly prevalent in District 45 within Plum Borough. By supporting the prohibition, we aim to mitigate environmental risks and protect the local ecosystem, ensuring the health and safety of our constituents and maintaining our commitment in the Pennsylvania constitution that people have the right to clean air, pure water and to the preservation of the natural environment.
- --My legislative agenda would take a proactive stance on harm reduction. I am eager to introduce and/or sponsor legislation that would legalize needle exchange programs across the state, offering support and resources for individuals grappling with substance abuse disorders. Additionally, I advocate for the use of fentanyl test strips to empower individuals to make informed decisions and continue to decriminalize the use.

2. What is within the government's ability to make our region more equitable, and what in your view, is its role?

I believe that the government has a crucial role to play in creating a more equitable society, particularly at the regional level. Some of the areas I believe the government can get involved to ensure equity is:

- --The government should prioritize investing in education, ensuring that all children have access to high-quality schooling regardless of their zip code.
- --Addressing the housing crisis is essential for promoting equity.
- --Healthcare is a fundamental human right, and the government should work to ensure that all residents in our region have access to affordable, high-quality healthcare services.
- --The government can promote equity by investing in job creation and economic development initiatives that prioritize marginalized communities.
- --Addressing systemic injustices within the criminal justice system is crucial for promoting equity.

4. What is that role? What specific policy decisions could help address these inequities?

I believe it is the government's role to ensure policy and legislation that is created is equitable and is ultimately going to break down barriers and inequities that exist within communities. Specific policy decisions that would help to address inequities would be things like improving public education funding and allocation, legislation working to address the black maternal mortality crisis, elimination of cash bail and criminal justice reform, and protecting environmental justice communities from industry.

6. How do you feel you may do this for your district and the people you represent?

I think it is essential that when our candidates are elected they do not stop doing the work that got them elected in the first place. Organizing for the rights of our neighbors and loved ones is not work that ends once you win public office. It will take more than voting and introducing legislation in this fight, our legislators must use every tool at their disposal and that includes truly engaging with communities.

11. Do you support a pathway for immunity for those with cannabis related conditions and an inclusion of such individuals in the emerging cannabis industry? Why? Why Not?

I do support a pathway for immunity for those with cannabis related conditions and an inclusions of those individuals in the emerging industry. It is crucial to ensure that individuals with medical conditions that benefit from cannabis treatment have access to it without fear of legal repercussion. Immunity for these individuals can help ensure they receive the essential care they require. As a social worker I have worked with individuals whose lives have been impacted by the criminal justice system. Whether it's individuals who have received jail time for small-time drug offenses or individuals with mental health issues that have been imprisoned and deprived of decent medical treatment—our criminal justice system is not working. Our system of mass incarceration is not working—and systemic racism has led to an institution which targets and unfairly imprisons people of color and puts a penalty on poverty. Additionally, the war on drugs as well single handedly targeted communities of color disproportionately and the criminalization of low level drug uses must be changed.

13. What, if any, is the biggest threat to voting rights in Pennsylvania? *

I think the current biggest threat to voting rights in Pennsylvania is the attack on mail in voting. Pennsylvania has faced many challenges to voter rights and many challenges to mail in ballots but we have also had recent success with the creation of automatic voter registration. I would work to protect voter rights by ensuring mail in voting is protected and advocate for things like same day voter registration, an open primary system and restoring voting rights to offenders.

18. What do you believe the solutions to the housing and eviction crisis should be?

As a senator I would look to introduce and support legislation that would work to allow rent control through the state to avoid the price gouging that occurs in so many neighborhoods. I would also work to make sure new housing that is being built has a percentage of lower income or section 8 units.

The section 8 program itself also is long overdue for an overall, the lottery system is not working and there are so many people who qualify for section 8 but never get accepted into the program. I believe rent control would help this somewhat but we also need to expand housing options for low income families and individuals.

I think there needs to be more education for renters on what their rights are and what actions they can take if landlords are not meeting those requirements. Too many landlords get away with keeping renters in horrible conditions because individuals don't know their rights or have the money or resources to fight back.

Lastly I am interested in what social housing has to offer because it has been incredibly effective and it is time we invest in this more, private profit-seeking developers have come into too many areas to develop housing and have led to gentrification of the area. The development of social housing offers a different more effective solution to addressing housing affordability.

Do you believe in a hybrid model?

I do oppose the build-out of further infrastructure, but I also know that it is not as simple as stopping the industry tomorrow. Many of the communities I have organized in that are impacted by these polluters don't want a ban because it is also the major employer in their communities and is putting food on their tables. It is because of this that I think the solution rather lies in investing in the build-out of clean energy solutions and using climate investment strategies to bring in green jobs and green companies that can overtime replace the dirty infrastructure. I think this process will take time and in the meantime there are things that can be done to improve the living conditions of many communities this includes things like closing the hazardous waste loophole, banning injection wells, increasing the setback distance between industry and homes, schools, daycares etc, and increasing air and water monitoring of the facilities by third party groups.

32. According to the FBI, White Supremacy is on the offensive both in government * and in our socio-political rhetoric. What can be done to protect communities of color, LGBTQ folk, Women, Immigrants and other at risk communities from this very real threat?

I believe these issues are the very reason we need to secure the majority in the senate and bring more women and progressives to our legislature. Since the overturning of Roe v Wade we have been fortunate to still have abortion rights protected—but that is no guarantee. A small change in leadership could drastically change that. We need as a state to be able to codify in law protection for abortion rights to ensure that can't be changed with a change in leadership. This is the same for protecting marriage rights, ensuring second-parent adoption, preventing discrimination and other important human rights. Securing the majority and holding the seats we have would at least allow us to protect Pennslvanians through our own law if SCOTUS were to overturn any of these other rights.

One thing that is important to keep in mind as we continue in our fight on these issues is that we cannot be satisfied with simply electing any Democrat. We must ensure, where we can, that we are electing advocates, organizers, and those who have experienced first-hand the effects of bad policy decisions. We must focus on electing those who recognize the importance of not letting those with intersecting identities fall through the cracks. It is not enough to address air quality issues in Allegheny County, we must address the more than 20 year life expectancy difference between zip codes within the county. It is not enough to address the issue of abortion rights, we must also address the issue of black maternal mortality rates statewide.

33. How do you define community safety? How can your position work to keep the *community safe?

I view community safety as a holistic concept that goes beyond traditional law enforcement. Community safety is not only the absence of crime and violence but the presence of things that build a safe community and allow residents to flourish. As a Senator I could work to build community safety through investment in social services, police reform and accountability, community empowerment and engagement, addressing systemic inequities, and investing in prevention and intervention strategies things like youth programs, after school activities, job training etc. My approach to community safety is addressing the underlying issues that impact most individuals things like affordable housing, poor education, lack of job opportunities etc.

34. Outside of policing and prisons, what are some of the solutions to reducing the amount of violence that happens in the commonwealth?

In order to reduce the amount of violence in the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania, we must first address the root cause of violent crimes and work within targeted community outreach programing and legislative efforts to address of causes. We must invest in community programming and evaluate the effectiveness of programming in communities today. Resources must be allocated toward community based programs that address the root cause of violence, such poverty, education disparities, healthcare, and housing instability. These programs can include mental health services, youth mentorship programs, and economic development initiatives partnered with community leaders and advocates to bring lasting change with local stakeholders. Additionally we need to support mental health services. Our mental and public health services are desperately understaffed and underfunded. Meanwhile also promoting restorative and resolution justice programming to provide alternatives to incarceration. Harm reduction methods have proven results in reducing recidivism and promoting reintegration into one's own community.

37. What can you do to improve the quality of life of the average Black 22 year old in your district?
I would target policies of economic inequality, by supporting the raising of the minimum wage to a living wage, expanding access to affordable housing, investing in job training and apprenticeship programs, and promoting entrepreneurship and small business development within black communities. The current minimum wage in Pennsylvania is not sustainable. I support the a $15 minimum wage with the addition of continued annual raises to that minimum to addressing cost of living adjustments.

38. Why should voters trust you to operate differently? How will you ensure transparency if elected?

As a community organizer, I became intimately familiar with the wide range of environmental issues across this district—from the injection wells in Plum to the well pads in Elizabeth, and everything in between (like the largest coke plant in the United States, Clairton Works). More importantly, I became familiar with these communities, their experiences, their concerns, and their priorities. I partnered with these communities to develop and advocate for policies that protect their health and safety.

I know what it is like to pay half your months salary to student loan debt. I know what it's like to life uninsured and debate between going to the doctor and paying your rent. And I know what it was like to work in healthcare during COVID. If elected I will continue to show up in my community every day and listen and I will ensure transparency by truly creating a culture of partnership and collaboration where we work together to get things done.

41. How do you define governmental transparency?
I define government transparency as the principle that government institutions and officials should operate openly and accountable to the public. This means our legislators are kept accountable for their actions and decisions they make and that the public should have full knowledge on things that often go on "behind closed doors."

43. What does reproductive justice mean to you?

As a public health professional and social worker I am a strong advocate and champion for reproductive rights and protecting the right to choice. Having worked in mental health and in disability services I have seen firsthand the impact access to proper reproductive healthcare makes on people's lives. I have worked with clients to help them exercise their right to choose and to help connect them to services like planned parenthood. Oftentimes there is a stigma for individuals and as a social worker my goal has always been to create a safe space where individuals can make the right decision for themselves without fear or pressure. I have several close friends who have had miscarriages and needed DNCs to save their life and I could not help but think about if I lived in a different state that maybe my friend may not have survived because they could have been denied that life saving care. We are a developed country with horrendous maternal mortality rates and depriving people of abortions is only going to make those issues worse. As a senator I would work to ensure abortion rights are protected by law in PA and then continue to advocate for change at the federal level. I would also work to ensure that high quality reproductive services are available for individuals regardless of where they live.

49. How do you define disability justice and how have you worked in the past to uphold its principles?

My career as a public health social worker began in disability services—first as a camp counselor for youth with disabilities, later in quality compliance, and program management for adults receiving disability services in the homes and communities of their choice.

Throughout my career I have worked with people with disabilities as a person with a disability. And I know that the disability community is one that has often been underrepresented, overlooked, and failed by systemic ableism and stigma. We have historically treated individuals with disabilities like they don't deserve the same rights to live in a community of their choice, to be financially stable, and to have access to necessary health services. We each have the right to dignity and choice in how and where we live, work, and play. I have advocated for this community as a social worker and as a person with a disability and I will continue to do that in office.

50. How have you worked in the past to engage youth, particularly those who have been considered at risk?

As a social worker I have a diverse and deep experience working with youth especially those considered at risk. In college I volunteered at the boys and girls after school club for multiple years and in graduate school I worked as a mobile therapist for kids in the court systems. Currently I still work with kids as a therapist specifically those dealing with chronic illnesses and cancer diagnosis.
